Dear Hiring Committee,

I am delighted to write this letter of recommendation for Hannah Hizer, who is currently working on her student teaching placement in a second grade classroom at Franklin Regional School District's Primary School. It is with genuine enthusiasm that I support her application for a full-time teaching position in your district.

From the very beginning of her placement, Hannah demonstrated a natural ability to connect with young learners. She brings warmth, patience, and a contagious enthusiasm that puts students at ease. Her classroom presence is both calm and engaging—an essential balance in a primary classroom—and she quickly earned the respect and trust of every student.

What truly sets Hannah apart is her thoughtful approach to instruction. She consistently designs creative, standards-aligned lessons that are both accessible and challenging. Whether teaching foundational literacy skills, guiding students through problem-solving activities, or facilitating hands-on science activities, she shows a deep understanding of how second graders learn best. Her lessons are interactive, inclusive, and differentiated to meet the needs of all learners.

In addition to her instructional strengths, Hannah demonstrates strong classroom management skills. She establishes clear expectations, uses positive reinforcement effectively, and handles challenges with maturity and professionalism. Her ability to maintain a structured yet joyful learning environment is impressive for a new educator.

Hannah is also highly reflective and eager to grow. She consistently seeks feedback and implements suggestions with intention and care. Her professionalism, reliability, and collaborative spirit make her a valued member of any teaching team.

Perhaps most importantly, Hannah genuinely cares about her students—not just academically, but socially and emotionally. She celebrates student successes, provides encouragement during challenges, and creates a classroom environment where every child feels seen, valued, and capable.

I am confident that Hannah will be an outstanding addition to any school community. She possesses the passion, skill, and dedication that define exceptional educators. I recommend her without reservation.
